

Shabbat

An Epistemological Principle for Holiness, Sustainability, and Justice in the Pentateuch

Delivered by Dr. Marvin A. Sweeney

Professor of Hebrew Bible

Claremont School of Theology

7 p.m. March 13, 2018 | Alford Centrum

Specializing in Hebrew Bible studies with a particular focus on prophetic literature, Marvin A. Sweeney is especially interested in biblical theology, literary-critical methodologies, ancient exegesis of biblical texts, and the interrelationship between religion and politics in both the ancient and modern worlds.

In addition, he teaches courses in the history of Judaism and Jewish thought. He is currently writing a commentary on Isaiah 40-66 (Forms of the Old Testament Literature, Eerdmans), an Introduction to the Pentateuch (Abingdon), a two-volume study of Jewish Mysticism (Eerdmans), and a two-volume commentary on Jeremiah (Illuminations; Eerdmans).

Dr. Sweeney holds Ph.D. and Master of Arts degrees from Claremont Graduate University and a bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois.

The Theological Commons at MTSO is a means through which the school shares intellectual resources with the church and the world through dialogue with the broader community. By offering events, learning resources and continuing conversation, the Theological Commons promotes the sharing of knowledge and experience between students, faculty, clergy and the public for the benefit of all participants and those they serve.

We invite your evaluation of this evening's lecture. Please return this sheet at the end of the lecture or mail it to Susan Zimmerman, MTSO, 3081 Columbus Pike, Delaware, OH 43015. Thank you.
